World chocolate day is observed on 7th July. The celebration of this day includes the consumption of chocolate, of course! The West African country, Ghana, the 2nd largest producer of cacao celebrates Chocolate day on Feb 14th. Chocolate when eaten in moderation has proven to be quite beneficial for health, too. Whether it's hot chocolate, a chocolate candy bar, chocolate cake, brownies, or anything covered in chocolate, this day is truly for chocolate lovers!

Anything is good if it's made of chocolate. Your hand and your mouth agreed many years ago that, as far as chocolate is concerned, there is no need to involve your brain. Chocolate symbolizes, as does no other food, luxury, comfort, sensuality, and gratification

July 22 is Pi Approximation Day. Also known as Casual Pi Day, the day is dedicated to the mathematical constant pi (π). Celebrate pi (π) by eating lots of pie. Pi denotes the relationship between a circle's circumference and its diameter and is denoted by the fraction $\frac{22}{7}$ which calculates approximately to 3.14.

Students wrote poems, they made art work and greeting cards. They also wrote lists of words that begin with 'Pi'. They are all as sweet as 'pi' because pi has infinite numbers.

ACTIVITIES

Emotions are feelings. Our feelings change from moment to moment depending on what's going on around us at home or with our friends.

Early learners are known for expressing their feelings and emotions and when they are categorized to them will reflect on a time when they have felt each of the emotions listed , such as sad, happy, excited, angry and peace.

The Junior kg kids were encouraged to create drawings to illustrate those feelings with the help of Emoji's. Then they illustrated it with their cute facial expressions . This activity helped kids build vital emotional awareness, mindfulness, and communication skills.

Senior Kindergartners were so enthusiastic about performing these activities.

Handling pegs (wooden / plastic)/binder clips : Kids were absolutely thrilled by the idea of grasping the peg and successfully fixing it on a sheet of paper, plate, ruler , book and pencil box. They were so curious to press open the peg using their thumb finger and index finger. They enjoyed the challenge of successfully manipulating the pegs.

The peg require a precise grip and depending on how the child handles the peg, it will result in different posture of the peg on the object.

Folding paper : Paper folding for Kindergartners is a fascinating fine motor activity and creative craft. Kids get a real sense of satisfaction. They also get to learn how to follow instructions.

Step by step instructions were given to follow and to fold a A4 sheet .To gently press the edges of the sheets after each fold which will result in creating an impressions that is visible when the sheet of paper is unfolded completely.

Kids happily performed the activity and were delighted to see the rectangle shaped boxes all over the sheet created by pressing the edges of the sheet.

PARENT'S corner

We are nearing 120 days of lockdown.. 1/3rd of the year in a lockdown. All the things that seemed important are not important anymore.. I think for most of us we have understood to a great extent the true meaning of life.

Days seem like months and the past few months seem like it didn't exist. It's a tough phase for most of us. But looking back at these months so much has changed..

As far as I am concerned, I had written earlier how much I used to travel. If I managed to spend a day or two in a week without driving it was a big deal. I used to constantly crib that I didn't have enough clothes to wear. This morn when I opened my wardrobe, I counted and realized that I have not used more than 7-8sets of clothes in the past 4months... Most of the clothes and none of my sarees have been used.

I don't watch any TV news and hence have not lost my sanity in the past months. I have had a lot of time to read The Hindu, TOI, and Business Line every day. Yes, a little old fashioned.. I have to read The Hindu and BL and Kannan is for TOI. There used to be days previously where all these papers would quietly go into old paper shelf without as much as even reading the headlines on page 1.

This is the longest time except for retired people, wherein couples would have been under one roof. Not easy I must say, but definitely teaches you a lot and to keep going positively.

In spite of the lockdown online classes keep our kids occupied. I must say it's amazing to see how well they have adapted to technology. For most of you reading this, we come from the social strata where a laptop and online classes are our Right.

Two things related to education which I have felt very strongly about.

1. Teachers and the teaching community - As parents, we live in an age where we have the right to demand from schools. Online classes are going on. But how many of us actually think of the teachers. They have families of their own, they might not be used to taking classes online, they might even have financial constraints in procuring a laptop... Please don't assume everyone has a laptop... Believe me.. Even people in IT companies do not have their own personal laptops.

Managing and keeping one kid occupied at home is a huge task.. Teachers I must say...patiently handle our kids.. They have come up with such innovative ideas to teach.. They use their resources at home to demonstrate experiments. I am sure it's not easy.. Uploading notes, assignments, marking them, and also giving motivating comments.. Is a humongous task. As parents, we need to be with each teacher... Even if we don't express it.. Maybe a small thanks in our minds to them will go a long way..

2. The second point is of concern to me.. Is after I read today's paper. TOI... Children going to Government schools. We talk about schools in terms of education.. Only today did I realize that schools are the place for thousands of children to have one square meal. This was introduced by our great leader Kamaraj and has been implemented by all CMs of TN to date. (Pardon me if I haven't mentioned other states.. I am sure it's in practice there too). Mid-day meal scheme with eggs... One complete nutritious meal for children.. guess what thousands of children haven't had a single egg to eat in the past four months.. ever since schools closed in March.. .and here we crib that the menu is boring.. Food has less salt... It's tasteless.. So on and so forth.

Lockdown or COVID has taught me many things.. In many ways, it has helped me revisit my days at Hilda's..

*Minimal living -we used to only take 7-10sets of clothes to the hostel

- *Reading and books -never will you be bored
 - * Respect teachers
 - *Appreciate your family time
 - * Respect the food you eat and the hands that make it.. There are people starving without a grain of rice or a drop of good water.

Having the basics necessities of life and a healthy loving family - Big Blessing.
